FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

*"He came for testimony, to testify to the light, so that all might believe through him."
Jn 1:7*

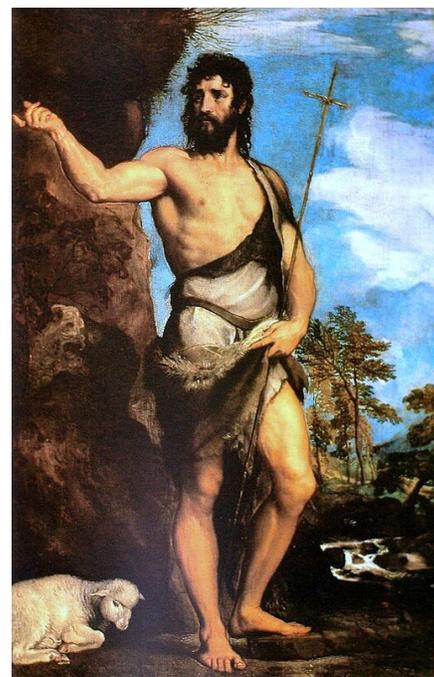

In today's Gospel we hear again a clear, certain, and firm statement repeatedly that he is not the Messiah and that he gives testimony to the light, but he is not the light.

St. John the Baptist renounces the titles of Messiah, Elijah, and the prophets. He defers to Christ. This theme is present in the servant song in the first reading from Isaiah which has richly influenced the Christology of the New Testament and the ministry of Jesus.

St. Francis de Sales considers St. John the Baptist to be one of the greatest saints because his life and mission were not to draw the attention of people to himself but to point to another. In his Sermon, the Doctor of Love - in speaking of St. John the Baptist - states,

"He did not want to draw disciples to himself, but only to his teacher, to whose school he now sends them so that they might be instructed personally by Him." (The Sermons of St. Francis de Sales for Advent and Christmas).

In this holy season of Hope and Expectation, we can focus our attention on the model of St John the Baptist who pointed the way to Christ. On our daily "earthly pilgrimage" to the fullness of the Kingdom, our lives and witness to Christ should not draw attention to ourselves but lead others to come to know and to encounter Christ. Like John, we are His messengers and ambassadors. Today, in a spirit of humility, may we recognize that God uses each of us as His instruments to proclaim the Good News to others.

*Be positive, think positive, and speak the language of hope!
Be a remarkable sign of hope for the world!*

*Be Still Moment – Allow yourself to be still for a moment!
Be still with others in moments of doubts, fears and anxieties and just be a friend. Silence is often a good answer and sometimes the best.*

*Salesian Moment – A moment with St. Francis de Sales
He or she who lives but for God seeks only God, and since God is with him or her in adversity as well as in prosperity, he or she dwells in peace amid tribulation.*

*Be faithful to your calling. All you do may not be successful in your eyes or in the eyes of others. The real success lies in your fidelity to who you are and what you have come to know as your calling.
Just be faithful and be joyful!*

"It is the beautiful task of Advent to awaken in all of us memories of goodness and thus to open doors of hope" ~ Pope Benedict XVI

WHAT IS COLLECTION MONEY USED FOR?

By: Rev. Msgr. William J. King from <https://www.simplycatholic.com/what-is-collection-money-used-for/>

There is a serious obligation for a pastor to report each year on how the offerings or tithings of parishioners and other donors have been used. The Code of Canon Law urges pastors and other administrators of the Church's goods to be "good householders," and lists some resulting obligations (see Canon 1284). Among these is the responsibility to "draw up a report of the administration at the end of each year." Transparency in financial administration and accountability to donors are important values in the administration of Church goods. Canon 1287 requires that this annual report be given to the "local ordinary" (in most dioceses, the diocesan bishop) and also to the parishioners. This canon could not be more explicit about this: "Administrators are to render an account to the faithful concerning the goods offered by the faithful to the Church."

Expenses can vary according to the size of a parish, its ministries — whether it has a parish school, for instance — and location. That having been said, in almost every parish, as in most not-for-profit organizations, the largest single set of expenses is staff: wages and benefits for parish employees. Typically, the second largest set of expenses is funding for Catholic education: support for schools and programs of religious education for children and adults.

In many dioceses, a percentage of parish income is taxed by the diocese as a means of providing operating funds for the central offices and ministries of the bishop. Let's not forget that it also costs money to turn on the lights; to operate heating and air conditioning; to keep water flowing; to maintain the buildings, grounds, and parking lots; to insure the parish property, pay any state or local taxes that are assessed; and even to provide hosts and wine for Mass.

Many parishes also use a portion of the weekly tithing or offering for charitable assistance outside of the parish. This is sometimes called "tithing the tithe" and takes the form of direct assistance to a mission project, or to another parish in need, or to a Catholic social service agency, whether nearby or far away.

It is also good stewardship for a parish to maintain savings in case of unplanned events — a leaky roof or equipment failure, for instance. Many parishes, if possible, try to put a bit of money away each year in savings for this purpose.
