"Peace be with you."

In 1954, the great French painter, Henri Matisse, died at the age of eighty-six. In the last years of his life, arthritis crippled and deformed his hands, making it painful for him to hold a paintbrush. Yet he continued to paint, placing a cloth between his fingers to keep the brush from slipping. One day someone asked him:

- Why did he submit his body to so much suffering?
- Why did he continue to paint in the face of such great physical pain?

Matisse's response went something like this: the pain eventually passes, while the beauty remains.

Why tell that story on the third Sunday of Easter? If we look at the Gospel passage from St. Luke, Jesus encounters his disciples for the first time and says, "Peace be with you". This passage from St. Luke follows the experience of two disciples on the way to Emmaus. As in the case of Jesus' first disciples, we, too, can find ourselves still wondering about (perhaps even disbelieving on occasion) in the presence of God in our messy and sometimes even joyless lives.

Some of us gather Sunday after Sunday in church. We wonder if all the claims of faith and stories of Jesus are true. How can Jesus give peace to our lives when we feel that our lives are anything but peaceful? How do we experience peace even as we are full of worries?

Remember the story of Henri Matisse? In a similar way, many of the worries, pains, and frustrations that we experience will also fade away. At some point in the process many of the worries, pains, and frustrations that we experience can be used to shape us into something useful and beautiful for God and for one another. And the beauty of what we become in the process will ultimately prevail long after the world, as we know it, has passed away.

Prayer by Saint Francis de Sales reminds:

Be at peace. Do not look forward in fear to the changes of life; rather look to them with full hope as they arise.
God, whose very own you are, will deliver you from out of them. He has kept you hitherto, and He will lead you safely through all things; and when you cannot stand it, God will bury you in His arms. Do not fear what may happen tomorrow; the same everlasting Father who cares for you today will take care of you then and every day. He will either shield you from suffering or give you unyielding strength to bear it.
Be at peace and put aside all anxious thoughts and imagination. Amen.

*Aim at Heaven and you will get earth 'thrown in'! Aim at earth and you will get neither!
(C. S. Lewis)*
