FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Presentation of the Lord

This weekend we celebrate the presentation of the Lord. In the Gospel reading of today, we experience Mary and Joseph presenting the infant Jesus, the son of God, in the Temple.

In reflecting on this feast, St. Francis de Sales notes:

On this day the Son of God is offered to His Father. This offering is beautifully represented with lighted candles to remind us of when Mary entered the Temple carrying in her arms her Son, who is the Light of the world. Today when Catholic Christians carry lighted candles in their hands it is to testify that if it were possible they would carry Our Lord in their arms as did Mary and Simeon. (Sermons 2:173)

This feast is the last of all those celebrated in honor of the Incarnation. From now on the liturgical cycle does not refer to this mystery or to the infancy of the Savior, but rather to His Death, Resurrection and Ascension. In other words, they will be feasts of our Redemption. (Sermons 2:173)

The glorious St. Simeon also was very happy to carry the Savior in his arms. We can bear Him on our shoulders if we willingly endure and suffer with a good heart all that it pleases God to send us, however difficult and heavy be the charge and burden that God places upon our shoulder, like some saints. (Sermons, 2:187)

We can carry Our Savior in our arms as St. Simeon and Mary did. We do this when we endure with love the labors and pains, He sends us when the love which we bear makes us find God's yoke easy and pleasing, so that we love these pains and labors, gather sweetness amid bitterness. If we carry Him this way, He will, without doubt, carry Himself with us. (Sermons, 2:188)

In imitating Simeon and Anna, we will be able to see beyond the vicissitudes of our present life and experience the reign of God in our midst.
(Adapted from the writings of St. Francis de Sales.)

National Catholic Schools Week

Catholic Schools throughout the United States are celebrating and having different events to commemorate the importance of catholic education. Our Holy Spirit School had different events this week to mark this important occasion.

Now let me ask you, what is the importance of Catholic Education in the modern world? What is the need for the Unique Role of a Catholic-Minded Education? In today's rapidly changing world, a Catholic education remains unique in its mission. It's not just about intellectual development; it's about nurturing the whole person—mind, body, and spirit. Catholic schools and universities aim to instill virtues like compassion, integrity, and morality alongside academic excellence.

One of the standout features that a specifically Catholic education has is its focus on the inherent dignity of every individual. The Servant of God, Fr. Peter Marie Mermier, who founded the Congregation of the Missionaries of St. Francis de sales, emphasizes that true Education is the "Education of the heart." This principle encourages educators to recognize and nurture each student's unique gifts, fostering a strong sense of self-worth and purpose.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Moreover, this educational framework emphasizes community and the common good. Students learn to see themselves as part of a larger community, promoting a supportive environment for academic, social, and spiritual growth. This sense of belonging fosters a responsibility towards others, emphasizing values such as subsidiarity and justice.

In a world increasingly focused on competition and material success, focusing one's education on the Catholic faith offers a refreshing and counter-cultural perspective. It emphasizes the intrinsic value of every human being and the importance of ethical conduct. Catholic institutions challenge students to consider how their professional choices can benefit society and the well-being of others. This deeply rooted understanding of seeking out your vocation sees work as a calling from God to use one's talents in service of the common good.

This Catholic-based education plays a crucial role in helping students find meaning and purpose in their careers and working lives. By integrating faith into the educational experience, Catholic institutions encourage students to view their professional aspirations through a lens of spiritual and moral values. This perspective nurtures a sense of vocation, where career choices are not just about personal success but contributing to the common good of others and themselves.

Catholic social teaching provides a robust framework for understanding the dignity of work and the importance of ethics in professional life. The Catechism of the Catholic Church states, "Work honors the Creator's gifts, and the talents received from him. It can also be redemptive" (CCC 2427). Viewing work as stewardship and service helps students approach their careers with a sense of mission and responsibility.

So, the Catholic Church remains a vital force in today's educationally minded society, offering a unique blend of academic excellence and spiritual formation. By drawing on its rich historical roots and integrating faith with learning, a Catholic education provides students with the tools they need to navigate the complexities of the modern world with integrity and purpose. Let us pray for wisdom, knowledge, and integrity upon those who are involved in the educational system and for their commitment to educate the future citizens of this Great Nation. ~ Adopted from Joshua Nelson

~ "What is nobler than to rule minds or to mold the character of the young? I consider that he who knows how to form the youthful mind is truly greater than all the painters, sculptors, and all others of that sort." — St. John Chrysostom

STEWARDSHIP FOOD FOR THOUGHT: PRESENTATION OF THE LORD

When Mary and Joseph brought Jesus to the Temple, they offered a sacrificial gift "in accord with the dictate in the law of the Lord." An offering of a specific size or kind is not "dictated" when we bring our gifts to the altar at Mass. Is my gift reflective of the many blessings I've received?
